

The First National Bank of Gordon

A Year of Community Spirit in 2025

In 2025, The First National Bank of Gordon continued to demonstrate that banking is about more than numbers—it's about people and the communities we serve.

Serving Our Community All Year Long

Community pride was on full display throughout the summer months as employees traded business attire for baseball caps, volunteering as coaches for local youth teams and teaching valuable lessons in teamwork and perseverance. During the Sheridan County Fair and Rodeo, bank volunteers greeted neighbors and visitors while taking tickets at the gates.

The bank's parade float added excitement to the festivities, featuring the young athletes of The First National Bank of Gordon's sponsored baseball team.

As the seasons changed, so did the ways the bank gave back. At Gordon-Rushville High School, students received activity passes courtesy of the bank, helping open doors to sports and extracurricular opportunities. Homecoming week brought an extra dose of warmth, with employees sharing homemade cookies with students and alumni, creating moments of connection throughout the community.

Investing in What Matters

Beyond community events, The First National Bank of Gordon supported causes that make a meaningful difference. Team members served on the Gordon Hospital Foundation board and helped organize Cruise for a Cause during Mental Health Awareness Month, fostering important conversations around wellness and mental well-being. Through the Neighbors Helping Neighbors program, the bank continued to extend compassion and care to those in need.

The bank also proudly fulfilled its commitment to the City of Gordon by helping raise funds for improvements to the Gordon Swimming Pool. Thanks to the generosity of the community—and the bank's dollar-for-dollar match—the fundraising effort was a resounding success.

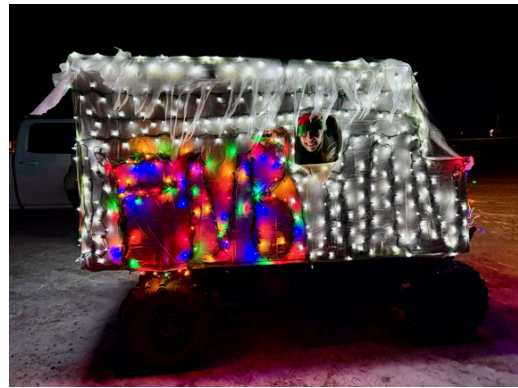

Celebrating the Season Together

When winter arrived, the bank's spirit shone brightly during the annual Parade of Lights, where a festive float illuminated Main Street. The year concluded with heartfelt appreciation at the Holiday Open House, bringing valued customers together to celebrate the season with homemade treats, warm conversation, and shared gratitude.

Through every donation, volunteer hour, and shared moment, The First National Bank of Gordon reaffirmed its promise: to invest not only in financial futures, but in the heart of the community it proudly serves.

Megan Lambert (Loan Associate) sharing in the holiday spirit at the annual C.A.R.E Christmas craft fair.

Consumer Loan Officer, Felicia Tesch, drives The First National Bank of Gordon Annual Parade of Lights float

